Sistering

Challenge #4: Design a solution that enables Sistering to digitize the sign-up process for volunteers to work their events and other volunteer opportunities.

There are many volunteers who help make the work of Sistering possible. Coordinating volunteers between all the areas where work is needed and when volunteers with necessary skills and training are available can be a very time-consuming process.

Volunteer schedules are currently managed with very manual efforts which is both time-consuming and inefficient for Sistering staff.

This solution should automate the process of matching qualified and available volunteers with time slots and opportunities that are available. Volunteers should be able to view upcoming initiatives and associated volunteer opportunities for each, and sign up for those that they are available and qualified for. Sistering staff should only have to approve the schedule rather than create it.

Note: This solution should build on the solution for Challenge #3 (which should be tackled first).

Ideal Features:
- Calendar-based
- Events and associated volunteer roles easily displayed
- Sign-up process
- Option to restrict access to some features to staff and approved volunteers only.
